The News.

We have some additional foreign news, this morning, mainly relating to India. The six day's fight at Lucknow was as bloody and desperate as several of the battles in the Crimea.

Reports from Kansas leave it still in doubt which ticket for State Officers has been chosen; but it is certain that the Lecompton swindle has been voted down by some 10,000 to 15,000 majority.

The President has resumed the distribution of the federal loaves and fishes among the hungry hordes of office-seekers.

An angry collision occurred in the U. S. Senate on the 14th instant, between TOOMBS and DOUGLAS. It was a secret session, and the particulars have not transpired.

Filibuster Walker has been issuing a large amount of bonds, payable in Nicaragua lands which he has sold to Southern sympathizers, to raise money for his buccaneering expeditions.—These bonds, just now, rule very low.

The House of Representatives has appointed a Select Committee to investigate the alleged payment, by the Middlesex Manufacturing Company, of a large sum of money to procure the passage of the last Tariff act.

Our Legislature has settled down quietly to its work and gives promise of a busy and reasonably brief season.

There was no change in the New York, or our own market, yesterday. The weather has grown more wintry, but is still fine.

Iowa Legislature.

The first Legislature under the new constitution of Iowa, is now in session at Des Moines, the new Capital. Hon. Oran Faville, the new Lieutenant Governor, is President of the Senate; George S. Spencer, of Jasper, was chosen Chief Clerk of the Senate, and J. G. Dimmitt, Assistant Clerk.

James K. Hartsock, of Johnson, Sergeant-at Arms, and John Buel, of Des Moines, Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms; E. H. Talbot, of Johnson, Enrolling Clerk; A. S. Bailey, of Washington, Engrossing Clerk: E. H. Brown, Postmaster; Elijah Evans, of Benton, Door-keeper—all Republicans, and elected by a vote of 22 to 11.

Hon. Stephen P. Shellady, of Jasper, was elected Speaker of the House; Benj. F. Jones, Chief Clerk, and A. M. Cowing, Assistant Clerk; N. M. Ayers, Enrolling Clerk; A. E. Wagstaff, Engrossing Clerk; B. F. Reno, Sergeant at Arms; E. H. Brown, Postmaster; J. P. Upp, Doorkeeper—all Republicans.

Gov. Grimes delivered his message to the Legislature on Wednesday, and on Thursday Judge Lowe, the Governor elect, was inaugurated and delivered his inaugural address.

THE DISAPPEARANCE OF MR. RUSSELL.—This matter, says the Detroit Tribune, is at ill shrouded in mystery. Conflicting rumors are set afloat there by interested parties, concerning him, most of which have no foundation, in fact. We have refrained from publishing these because they would serve no good purpose, and because, furthermore, they were not true. We have taken pains to ascertain whatever truth there may be in the latest rumors concerning him. There is the very slightest foundation for the belief that he has gone to Europe, and no probability of it. The friends who have been diligently searching for him are strongly of the impression that he has been murdered, but have no grounds on which to base their belief. Meantime, investigations are being pursued diligently. And thus the matter rests at present.

The Legislature.

We have seldom noticed in any Legislature a better disposition to go to work, than the present exhibits. They have perfected a full organization, and besides have considered many important matters during the three first days of its session. This augurs well for the future, and we may look for much good to be accomplished.—Madison Patriot (Dem.)

We hope that the Legislature will continue to deserve the good opinions of the press and the public, by applying themselves diligently, steadily and intelligently to the business of the session.

News from the Plains.

The Leavenworth City Ledger of the 8th inst. says that three young men, Henry Baker, James Smith and Alexander Francis, arrived there on Thursday afternoon, the 7th, direct from "Fort Bridger." They came the short distance, twelve hundred miles, on foot, and accomplished their journey in forty five days.

They report that the day they left, six Mormons came into camp and reported that the Mormons were in a state of civil war. Brigham Young and about one-half desiring to march against the troops; the other half being in favor of the troops coming into "Salt Lake," and establishing a military government there, and overthrowing the present powers that be. These gentlemen left Leavenworth last July, with the train of Henry Charles. On their return they were caught in a snow storm, at "Rock Ridge," and suffered considerably; but they weathered the storm and came through without any molestation. It was certainly an undertaking at this season of the year.

THE STATE TAXES.—The Madison Journal of Saturday, has the following paragraph in relation to the payment of State taxes:

No law has yet been passed to obviate the difficulty suggested by the recent circular of the State Treasurer; but we understand that a bill will be passed next week, authorizing the payment of the State Tax in the current notes of Wisconsin Banks, with proper guards against encouraging the circulation of wild cats.

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.—The Milwaukee News don't like the Governor's message. We don't blame it, for—

"No rogue e'er felt the halter draw,
With good opinion of the law."

The Governor has drawn the halter too close about the necks of the Thieves and Wild Cats, for them to be expected to relish it. But, grin and bear it as well as you can; it will all soon be over with you.—Madison Patriot (Dem.)

"BORDER RUFFIANISM" IN NEBRASKA.

From the Omaha Nebraskian—Extra, Jan. 6.

It is with no little regret that we have to record one of the most disgraceful transactions it has ever been our lot to witness in the Territory, and to herald to the world the infamy of a majority of the members of the present Legislature. The facts from which we leave the public to judge, are as follows:

The House went into committee of the whole yesterday morning, on a joint resolution for the election of public printer. A bill had been previously introduced for the re-location of the capital, and a motion to suspend rules and put it through without delay, had been announced on the part of its friends. To consume the time, when the House went into committee of the whole on the printing resolution, several gentlemen who are opposed to the removal of the capital, spoke against time; thus preventing a motion for the rising of the committee. At this, the Speaker and his friends—a majority of the House, and the same men who voted for the "Delegate Resolutions"—became much exasperated, and withdrew from the House; the minority—thirteen in number—remaining in committee.

Speaker Decker and his friends came down to the Douglas House, and in caucus decided to break up the committee and get the Chair, at all hazards; the Speaker declaring that he would have it or die. It is even rumored that the Speaker and several of his friends armed themselves with revolvers. The chief clerk of the Council was found, and persuaded to take a message to the House.

On a message from the Council being announced—the House being still in committee of the whole, Mr. Thrall in the Chair, and Mr. Hayes having the floor—an enquiry was made as to whether the Council was in session, and the clerk replying that that body was not in session, a rule in Jefferson's manual was cited, showing that no message should be received unless both the houses were in session; on which the chairman informed the clerk that his message could not be received, and Mr. Hayes proceeded with his remarks. At this juncture Mr. Butcher, who, with his friends, had returned to the House, started for the Speaker's Chair, and snatching the gavil from the hand of the chairman, raised it in a threatening manner, at the same time ordering Thrall to leave, remarking that he would take possession of the Chair, or die. Mr. Murphy, on seeing the Speaker in the act of assaulting Dr. Thrall, interfered and endeavored to wrest the gavil from his hand, when a pretty general melee ensued, creating a nice scene of confusion, which, in the expressive language of an eye witness, would "almost make one think that if—it had given a holiday and turned all the devils loose in the Nebraska Legislature."—Several members "pitched in," and it is said that the Speaker would have been pretty roughly handled had it not been for the timely assistance of Mr. Ransom—who happened to be within the bar—in rolling him under the tables without even waiting to "suspend rules."

Dr. Thrall still kept the chair, and succeeded in restoring order. Mr. Hayes went on with his speech; Speaker Decker and his friends left the House without getting possession of the chair by force; and at length the committee rose, the members present elected a Speaker pro tem, and adjourned till the usual hour this morning.

The greatest excitement prevails, and numerous are the conjectures as to what will be done. If the withdrawing members—21 in the House, and eight in the council—assemble at Florence, the Governor will not, and cannot, recognize their acts. In the meantime, those members of each House remaining here, will assemble in their respective rooms, and, not having a quorum present, will adjourn from day to day.

It should be remarked, that Florence is a very appropriate place for those revolutionists to meet. They sustain the election frauds perpetrated at that delectable town in August last, and are in most respects fit subjects to be under the protection and control of Brigam Young and his satellites. If Brigham Young should condescend to deliver to them a message, we shall endeavor to lay the same before our readers.

The House met this morning at the usual hour; the reading of the journal was dispensed with, and a motion to adjourn to Florence was made and carried, on which the majority withdrew, leaving the minority, who elected Mr. Poppleton Speaker pro tem., and adjourned until to-morrow morning. The Clerk of the House, understanding his business fully, refused to move the journals, minutes, and other papers, but kept the same here at the capital.

About half-past ten o'clock this morning, Mr. Reeves, in the Council, moved that that body also adjourn to Florence. The President, Dr. Miller, very properly refused to entertain the motion; thereupon Mr. Reeves put the motion himself, for which act it is to be regretted that he was not promptly arrested by the Sergeant-at-arms.

The reason of Dr. Miller's refusal to entertain the motion, was, that the Legislature could not adjourn under the organic law, without the joint action of the two Houses, and the official action of the Governor. An appeal was taken from the decision, and sustained by the majority. The President still firmly refusing the question, Mr. Reeves, of Otoe, arose in his place and put the question, which was declared by the President to be informal and out of order; but regardless of that, the majority withdrew from the Council Chamber.

Gov. Cuming has issued an order for keeping the journals, minutes, &c., of the Council also at the capitol.

But after all, we are not much surprised that men who can litter away nearly a whole session of the Legislature in foolish agitation of subjects over which they have no control, on finding one of their mercenary schemes likely to be foiled, are ripe for any movement of a disorganizing nature.

Several gentlemen from various sections of the Territory, are now in the city, and from them, as well as from persons in our own community, there is but one universal expression—condemnation of the high-handed outrage and illegal proceedings of the majority of the Legislature. All concede that the position of the minority is legal, parliamentary and correct.

It should be remarked that the lobby was crowded during the melee, and that no disposition to interfere was manifested; and as soon as partial order was restored, every man in the lobby, at the request of Mr. Morton of Otoe, left the room.

LARGE HOGS.—J. P. J. Hayner of the town of Rock, sold two hogs to R. Bent of this city, last week, weighing 571 and 541 lbs., respectively. Upon one of them the clear white fat was seven inches thick on the shoulder, directly over the back bone.—Janesville Gazette.

THE ORIGINAL ELECTRIC OIL, made only by Prof. C. DEGRATH.—What Col. E. H. Grant says: I had the Neuralgia three years ago so badly that the physicians nor anything else I tried could relieve me. I bought a bottle of your Electric Oil in Chestnut street, at that time, and before using two bottles, I was perfectly cured; that has been three years since. Yesterday I had a slight attack of Rheumatism, and purchased another bottle to cure that. I have known several of my friends, Mr. Cripps and others, to be cured by your Oil when scarcely able to walk. You are the first introducer of the Electric Oil to my knowledge.

Col. Grant can be seen at No. 26 North Thirteenth st. Ask him. Ask Mr. Thompson, Seventeenth and Thompson streets, who was helpless, and cured by one bottle.—Ask Mrs. Candon, Coates street; one dose saved the life of her child dying of croup. Ask the Philadelphians who have tried my genuine Electric Oil.

Rheumatism, Palsy, Pains, Neuralgia, Baldness, Toothache, Burns, Piles, Stiff Joints, Cramps, Swellings, &c. cured in a few days. Beware, and take none but the genuine pure De Grath's Electric Oil. All others are mere deceiving nostrums.

CITY MATTERS.

CIRCUIT COURT, JAN. 18.—JUDGE MCARTHUR PRESIDING.—The disposal of criminal cases was commenced at the Circuit Court yesterday.

The case of the state against Wilhelmiher Schmidt indicted for larceny, was the first brought up. A jury was empannelled, and the prosecuting witness called, when the descendant plead guilty. The Judge has not yet pronounced sentence in this case.

The next was the case of the State against John Bierman, who had been indicted for larceny in a dwelling. The finding of the jury in this case was not guilty, the prosecuting witness having failed to identify the money stolen.

The case of Susan Truesdale, on a charge of stealing clothing, &c., was next brought up, and the verdict of the jury, in this case, was also not guilty, the testimony not corresponding with the charge in the indictment as to the name of the owner of the property.

Thus by a nice technicality this offender is discharged as "not guilty," although her guilt is not at all doubted.

SEVENTH WARD SCHOOL.—This new School was opened for the reception of pupils, yesterday morning, and a regiment of little people gathered about its doors, at an early hour, all anxious to get in. The second examination for candidates for the High School, resulted in the admission of 58 more pupils, making the full complement of 108. In the Intermediate Department, every seat (110 in number) was occupied, and in the Primary Department there were 120 Scholars.—It is designed to provide accomodations for 80 or 40 more, in this last Department, which will bring up the aggregate for the entire School to about 400. Some appropriate remarks upon the opening of the School were made yesterday by the accomplished Principal, Mr. MCKINDLEY, and by Messrs. HADLEY and LARKIN, of the Board of School Commissioners.

The new school starts under excellent auspices. The cost of the lots and building is not far from $40,000, but tax-payers will not grudge this large outlay, if the school comes up to the requirements and expectations of the public.—We are quite sure that the very competent corps of Teachers, engaged for the school, will do their part to make the school what it should be, and we hope that the children who attend it will show their sense of the liberal provision made for their benefit, by improving to the utmost the facilities and opportunities thus afforded them, for obtaining a good education.

THE ESCAPED MURDERER.—We have not yet heard anything of the recapture of the murderer Alfred Underhill, who escaped from the Columbus county jail, at Portage, last Thursday. Another prisoner, named Harrington, also made his escape with Underhill. The latter was confined on a charge of robbery, and waiting to be tried before the Circuit Court. They effected their escape by extracting an iron bar from a cell window with which they forced the staple of a door bolt. Underhill was awaiting the decision of the Supreme Court, upon the conviction of murdering his brother at Dekorra, in the same county, about four years ago. He succeeded in making his escape once before, and was at large for about two years, when he was recaptured, and then tried and convicted; but owing to some irregularity in the proceedings, the judge was unwilling to sentence him, and the case was therefore referred to the Supreme Court.

Sheriff Lewis is now after both him and Harrington in close pursuit, and it is to be hoped he may succeed in recapturing them. We learn that the horses which they took from the jail have been recovered.

A DRUNKEN MELEE AND STABBING AFFAIR.—A regular free fight, in the course of which one man was very badly stabbed, occurred in a rum shop known as the "Melodeon," on Main Street, on Sunday morning. It seems that sixteen or eighteen rowdies were carousing and having what they called a "regular time of it" there all night, and towards four o'clock in the morning, after having several bloodless encounters during the night, they all got into a regular melee, in the course of which several of them were rather badly pounded, and one man named Michael Fagan was stabbed in the neck and through one of his arms, and in several other places, in a shocking manner, although the wounds are not of a nature that will endanger his life. The name of the fellow who stabbed him is Nathan Green. After this occurred, those who had been engaged in the row absconded, but policemen Hanck and A. Beck succeeded in finding Green, who is now in jail awaiting an examination.

A COWARDLY WRETCH.—A cowardly brute, named Geizel, was brought up in the police court, yesterday morning, for mistreatment of his wife. He has made a practice of beating her in the most brutal manner, and his fiendish temper not satisfied with this kind of persecution, prompted him to use more devilish means to torture this unfortunate woman.

On Saturday she came to the police justice, and related an account of her wrongs, showing the marks of his violence upon her person. On the night previous he stabbed her in the arm, and inflicted severe wounds on other parts of her body. Justice Walworth had the fellow immediately arrested and lodged in the station house to be examined on Monday morning, but when brought up yesterday, the foolish women positively refused to appear against him, fearing that he should be sent to jail, and he was consequently discharged. We trust that this act of womanly forgiveness on her part, when it was in her power to have the fellow punished, will teach him to use her as he should in future.

SOUTHERN WISCONSIN R. R.—OPENING TO MONROE.—The completion of the Southern Wisconsin R. R., to Monroe, the flourishing county seat of Green County, is to be duly celebrated at that place to-day. An excursion train leaves our city at 7 o'clock this morning, and will be due at Monroe at 2:30 P. M. Returning, the train will leave Monroe at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, and reach here in the afternoon. A public ball and dinner are among the exercises appointed for the day. We are indebted to the Committee of Arrangements for an invitation to the festival.

ODD FELLOWS' FESTIVAL AT HORICON.—We are indebted to our editorial brother, Mr. M. M. FOSBROY, of the Horicon Argus, for an invitation to an Odd Fellows' Festival, at Horicon, on the 29th instant. The programme includes a procession, to be followed by exercises at the Academy Hall in the afternoon, and dancing and supper in the evening. Members of the order, as well as the Masonic fraternity, are invited to appear in their regalia.

MR. VAUGHAN.—The Sentinel is in error, in asserting that Champion Vaughan, who has recently been elected to the Kansas Senate, was formerly connected with this paper. He has written more or less for our columns, but never other than as a voluntary contributor.—Wisconsin.

POLICE COURT, JAN. 18.—Michael Hanley, disorderly, fined $10 and costs.

George Brown, drunk and disorderly, fined $3

☞ There will be a great sale of New Orleans new crop of sugar, this morning at City Auction Room, comprising 18 hhds. Also a small stock of dry goods.

And White surrenders.

A. This move long cramps Black's game, and comes to the utmost ease on their part to avoid loss.

B. Well conceived.

C. To get rid of the Bishop, or at least prevent the move of Kt to K B 4.

D. K R to Q Kt would have brought the other R into play without apparent danger.

E. So K R to Q B would be better.

F. White's Q being on the other side of the board, Black can now give his two Pawns for the Knight safely, and we think with advantage.

G. R to Q Kt 6, preceded by B x Kt, was anticipated by Black, and would, we think, have made a more effective attack.

I. B to K B would, perhaps, be better.

J. If the B had not been moved, White foresaw that Black would have captured it, with a winning game.

K. After this, White bends all his energies to draw the game. All his subsequent play is to that end, which Black aims to defeat.

L. If Black had queened his P, he would have won the B for it, but not the game. We believe he could not have won if White had now played P to Q R 7, as Black would have been obliged to keep his Kt there to watch it.

M. White dare not take the Kt.

N. Black will, in a few moves, be able to win the Bishop, or interpose one of his Knights, so as to Queen his Pawn.

INDIA.

The fight of the 10th of November was the severest ever known. On the 19th the enemy took to flight and the firing nearly ceased.

After this fight the bodies of 150 Sepoys were counted in one spot.

In the engagement he relied on the artillery as much as possible.

It was reported that the King of Delhi, his son, and two nephews had been shot.

The correspondent of the London Daily News states that the rebels had placed a boy on the throne, and keep him in state at Tyesbadad, a large walled city, defended by a fort and round towers. Here their last stand of resistance may be expected, as they had concentrated all their available forces at that point.

The 84th regiment of native infantry had mutinied at Chittagong, and marched to Delhi. A force of 100 Europeans had gone to intercept them. The Territory of Cawnpore was threatened by a large force from Oude. Serious disturbances were expected to occur at Baypoore, and European troops were urgently wanted.

THE SARAH SANDS.

A letter from Capt. Castle, commander of the Sarah Sands, is published, describing the partial destruction of his ship, and the escape of the troops and crew. The fire was discovered at 45 minutes past 4 o'clock, in the afternoon. The flames burned through the upper deck, and at about nine o'clock, a fearful explosion took place in the port magazine. By this time, says Capt. Castle, the ship was one body of flames from the stem to the main rigging, and thinking it scarcely possible to save her, I called Major Brett, in command of the troops, forward and told him my opinion, and requested him to keep order among the troops until the last, but at the same time to use every exertion to check the fire.

No person can describe the manner in which the men were to keep the fire back.

One party was below keeping the bulk-head cool from burning, several of whom were dragged up senseless, when fresh volunteers took their places, but soon in turn had to be dragged up in the same state.

At 11 o'clock the main top-sail yard took fire, Mr. Welsh, Quartermaster, and four or five soldiers, went aft with wet blankets and succeeded in extinguishing the flames there, but not until the yard and mast were nearly burnt through.

About midnight we appeared to have made some impression on the fire, and after that drove it back inch by inch until daylight, when it got under. The ship now appeared in a fearful plight, merely a shell remaining. The port quarter was blown out by the explosion, fifteen feet water in the hold and the ship rolling heavily and taking in large quantities of water fore and aft.

The official report of the recent earthquake at Naples, says it has been confined to the interior principalities and the provinces of Basilica. All the buildings in Puteusa are in ruins, and twelve villages have nearly disappeared. There were 400 dead at Castilla and thirty at Pila.

Sicily had altogether escaped.

From Washington.

The Senate Committee on Territories, after a sharp discussion have agreed to wait for the copy of the Minnesota Constitution signed by the Republican majority of the Convention. It will be here on Monday.

Gov. Medary is here and will certify it. He also says there will be a strong opposition to the three representatives, and there is a prospect that a new election will be ordered, if the State is admitted.

The Lecompton Constitution is not here.—Calhoun retains it until the vote of the election of Jan. shall be counted.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.

John Appleton, of Maine, Asst. Secretary of State. John Bigler, of California, envoy extraordinary and Minister plenipotentiary to Chili.—Henry Murphy of New York, Minister resident to the Netherlands. Jas. Williams of Tennessee, Minister resident at Constantinople. Wm. R. Calhoun, of S. C., Secretary of Legation at Paris.

The navy department have advices of the arrival of the U. S. frigate Merrimac at Rio de Janiero, in 43 days from Boston; all well on board. The Merrimac would leave as soon as the ship could be prepared for the passage around Cape Horn.

The Herald correspondence says: Despatches from New Granada, state that there was no prospect of the ratification of the treaty, recently negotiated with the U. S. Unless they come to a decision pretty shortly, our government will send a naval force there.

I am credibly informed that Gen. Walker has flooded the South with bonds, of $100 each, running 20 years, payable in Nicaraguan lands. A large number of said Bonds are now in this city for disposition.

The Interior Department has received all the census returns of Minnesota, with the exception of six districts. She has about 155,000 inhabitants, and will be entitled to only one member of Congress. The three representatives cannot be admitted, therefore a new election will be ordered.

Wm. G. L. Smith, of Buffalo, has been appointed Consul at Shanghai, and J. B. Miller, of Utica, Consul at Rio de Janeiro.

Mr. Nail, an Ex-M. C., of N. J., has received a first class Consulate.

From Kansas.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 16.

The Leavenworth Times of the 9th says, reports indicate the success of the entire Free State ticket, while the vote against the Lecompton Constitution will probably exceed 16,000.

The Lawrence correspondent of the Democrat says, as far as heard from, the Free State party have elected 81 out of 44 Representatives, and 14 out of 18 Senators.

St. Louis, Jan. 18.

A gentleman from Kansas, by last night's train, states that Calhoun was to commence counting the votes of the election of the 21st December, on Tuesday last, in the presence of the presiding officers of the Legislature and Gov. Denver. As soon as this was done, a messenger would be dispatched to Washington with the vote and the State Constitution.

Calhoun would not leave the Territory until the result of the election for State officers was in.

The result of the election of the 6th was still in doubt.

Col. Henderson, of Leavenworth, was forcibly taken from the stage, a few miles from that place, by a party of free state men on the 11th, and has not been heard from since.

Violent Storm in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 15.

We had a sudden wind storm this afternoon, accompanied by rain. It was nearly a hurricane. 16 ships broke from their moorings, and were considerably injured. The C. S. Pennell of Bath and E. Stewart, were badly injured. Several houses were unroofed, and the buildings at the Lake end of the Pontchartrain railroad were about half destroyed. The damage to the steamers by breaking loose, chimneys blown down, &c., was immense. Two lives are known to have been lost. It is impossible to give full particulars, names of boats, &c., to-night. The storm, which lasted only about half an hour, blew down fences and verandahs of houses in the city. It is not known whether it extended to the gulf, but many fears are entertained of its effects in that region.

Later from Yucatan.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 16.

The Schooner Tallahassee has arrived from Sisal with dates to the 6th inst. That place was still blockaded, a change in the Government had taken place, and peace negotiations were progressing. Hopes were entertained that the revolution would soon end.

MILWAUKEE:

TUESDAY MORNING, JAN'Y 19,

The News on the Message.

The News of Sunday, favored its readers with a column of criticism on the Governor's Message. As the News affects to lead the democratic press of the State, and took its time to say what it thought about the Message, we looked to see an able and dignified review of this document, a discussion of the principles which it advances, and an ordered arrangement or condemnation of the various measures which it recommends. But we looked in vain. The News gives nothing of the sort. Its criticism is mainly ephthetical, and goes to the form and not the substance of the Message. The News discovers and quotes three blundering sentences, taxes the Governor with "ignorance," "not only of rhetoric, but of general politics," "the rules of public economy, and State decorum;" and sums up its opinion thus:

We should be mortified to think that any man in our party, who may aspire to the Governorship could, even with trying, write so silly and unfinished a message. From first to last, it is the merest jumble, a disgraceful farrago.

That our readers may see what shocking blunders the News has detected in the Message, we copy the two instances which that paper cites, of the Governor's bad grammar:

Under the head of "the State University," it is this—"The new s[illegible] of the Institution, which is now in process of construction, will add greatly to its facilities for carrying out the purposes of the munificent grant by Congress"—This blunder is less objective, because not so pompous, as some to be found in the Brodhead speech; but it is as much more discreditable to the Governor, as the message is more pretentious in matter and style than the said speech. "The State has accepted the trust," continues the Governor. Now he probably meant, by using the word trust, to refer his readers to the grant by Congress; but he don't say so, and but for the common sense of most men, no mortal could guess what was meant.

These be grave errors indeed! But we think that "the common sense of most men," which the News rightly trusts to interpret the common sense of the Message, will be at no loss to comprehend the Governor's meaning, though utterly unable to guess that of the News. "This criticism," adds our neighbour, "may be thought unfair, and some perhaps will condemn us for exposing the ignorance of the Governor." Let the News dismiss this harrowing apprehension. The public will unanimously acquit it of exposing any "ignorance," save its own.

Of course, in picking those flaws in the Governor's Message, the News is careful to make its own article a model of elegant style and logical and gramatical accuracy. Were we not confident of this, we should half suspect "blunders" in the following classic utterances:

It is often the case that editors, who are waiting for or fearing that something may "turn up," to write against time; but it is not customary for Governors to do it.

* * * But that is an unjust view of the case; for the party which acknowledges Randall as its head, arrogates superior intelligence to the Democracy. * * * *

The News, after patient and protracted search has discovered and cited three "blundering sentences" in the Governor's nine-column Message. We submit that the three extracts copied above from the one-column criticism of the News, are more than a match for the flaws which our neighbor spies in the Message.

THE POWER OF CURIOSITY.—The Mound City Emporium says: A secret organization, publicly known as the Independent Order of the Sons of Malta, is rapidly gaining a foothold in our country, and is enlisting the countenance and support of very good and substantial men. A short time since a lodge was organized in Cairo, and is so rapidly gaining upon the feelings of the citizens, that no one will be surprised if the whole town, in a few months, should be gathered in its environs. The young, the enterprising and adventurous seem particularly fascinated with it.

"Last Tuesday evening a delegation of about thirty of the Cairo "Sons" paid our city a visit, and assembling in "Young America" Hall, organized a lodge. The ceremonies, so far as outsiders, like ourselves, could judge, were harmoniously conducted. A number of persons were initiated, and hereafter we may expect the order to take a pretty wide footing among us. If it does not, we are entirely mistaken in the present tendency of feeling, and in our notions of the power of curiosity."

SHOCKING ACCIDENT.—On Thursday afternoon, says the Waukesegan Gazette, the little daughter of Mr. Andrew Graham, a tailor of that city, having stepped on her way from school at the planing mill of Porter Brothers, with a school mate for the purpose, as is supposed, of playing, had her clothes caught by some of the shafting of the establishment and was drawn around with great velocity and violence for several minutes, mangling her in a most shocking manner. The workmen, who were in an adjoining room, noticed the jar of the machinery, but supposed it was occasioned by the disarrangement of some of the belting. They soon discovered the true cause, however, and every man flew to relieve her as soon as possible. The unfortunate little girl lived only a short time after she was brought home.

THE WEATHER IN MINNESOTA.—From the Minnesota papers we learn that the weather there has been quite mild, thus far this season, even in the northern parts of the State.

There has not been more than four inches of snow at any time during this winter, and that soon vanished under the influence of Sol's genial rays. The Minnesotian says that eastern newspapers that have "slandered Minnesota and her winters," ought to make a note of this; and in relation to the same subject another Minnesota exchange gets off the following:

"Let wise men of the east rejoice! Minnesota has actually been covered with snow to the depth of—four inches. It has nearly all gone off, however; for which we are sorry, both because it has spoiled the sleighing and interfered with the cold weather gossip about Minnesota.

NATIONAL TELEGRAPH LINE.—The wires of the National line, running from the "Telegraph Building," No. 21 Wall street, New York city, to New Orleans, a distance of about two thousand miles, were connected through, a few nights since, and a large number of messengers transmitted to and from each city, direct and without the aid of "repeaters." No similar feat, it is believed, was ever performed in this country or in Europe, and the result would seem to demonstrate beyond all doubt the entire practicability of transmitting despatches across the Atlantic.

ENGLISH SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR AMERICAN RAILROADS.—Advices have been received that the English subscriptions to the Erie Railroad loan now amounts to $760,000; and that to the Illinois Central $850,000, with a promise of more, if the Company would insert a clause in the agreement that the new loans should be receivable in part payment of any new calls for money the company may make hereafter.

EDITORIAL CHANGE.—Nathan C. Geer Esq., for eight years editor and proprietor of the Waukesegan Gazette has disposed of his interest in that paper to Mr. James Y. Long Esq., an old resident of Waukesegan, who succeeds Mr. Geer in the editorship also.

The New Sugar Experiment.

We have received from Mr. Joseph S. Lovering a pamphlet account of his experiments with the "Sorghum Saccharatum," or Chinese sugar cane. This paper is minute in its descriptions of processes and results, not only in the making of the sugar, but the culture of the plant. Accompanying the pamphlet were specimens of the sugar and the syrup, the latter of fine quality, and the former ranging from imperfect samples to quite a superior article. The only question is one of economy. Mr. Lovering in a note addressed to us, pronounces the result "highly encouraging." The pamphlet will be sought with great interest. We subjoin the conclusions at which the writer arrives; and we need hardly remark that he is most excellent authority in the premises:

1st. That it is obvious that there is a culminating point in the development of the sugar in the cane, which is the best time for sugar making.—This point or season I consider to be, when most if not all the seeds are ripe, and after several frosts, say when the temperature falls to 25 deg. or 30 deg. F.

2d. That frost, or even hard freezing, does not injure the juice nor the sugar, but the warm Indian summer weather, after the frost and hard freezing, does injure them very materially, and reduces both quantity and quality.

3. That if the cane is cut and housed, or shocked in the field when in its most favorable condition, it will probably keep unchanged for a long time.

4. That when the juice is obtained the process should proceed continuously and without delay.

5. That the clarification should be as perfect as possible by the time the density reaches 15 deg. Beaume, the syrup having the appearance of good brandy.

6. That although eggs were used in these small experiments, on account of their convenience, Isinglass blood, if to be had, is equally good, and the milk of lime alone will answer the purpose; in the latter case, however, more constant and prolonged skimming will be required to produce a perfect clarification, which is highly important.

7. That the concentration, or boiling down, after clarification, should be as rapid as possible without scorching—shallow evaporators being the best.

With these conditions secured, it is about as easy to make good sugar from the Chinese cane as to make a pot of good mush, and much easier than to make a kettle of good apple butter—Philadelphia Gazette.

"To the World.—When a man commits suicide, the world wishes to know why he did it. The answer in my case lies in a nutshell—I am tired of living. Life is a farce, happiness a humbug, and the cares, trials and tribulations which I see before me, offer no inducement for a prolongation of this earthly sorrow. With a good heart and a calm mind, I plunge in medias res and try the realities of an unknown world. Looking forth upon the horizon of my life, all looks dark and dreary, save one spot, where twinkles the star of hope and love.

"To those of my friends who have watched my career for the past three years, they will see nothing strange in my present determination. It is not rash, for I have calmly considered and debated it for two months. I am not mad, but perfectly calm, cool and collected. The future has nothing of promise, and I leave the world with but a single regret. To my friends I would say good-by; and of my enemies, if I have any, I would ask their forgiveness. Poverty is a dreadful curse when coupled with discontent. God help me in this present hour! Farewell—farewell for ever!!

In a note addressed to a friend, the deceased requested to have the following inscription placed upon his tombstone:

"Died, January 6, William H. Cowes, aged 22 years."

APPOINTMENTS AT MADISON.—Gov. Randall has appointed as his Private Secretary Wm. H. Watson, Esq., late of the Milwaukee Sentinel. It is a pleasure to us to say that the Governor could not have begun the duties of his office in a better way. Mr. Watson is a favorite with the fraternity, and besides being a good editor, most certainly possesses that ability which will make him a good confidential assistant of the Executive.—Beside this; Gov. Randall has re-appointed Horace Rublee, Esq., of the Madison State Journal, Librarian; a gentleman with the tastes, mind and habits, which will fit him for the place.

Col. Jones has appointed as Assistant Secretary of State, J. D. Ruggles, Esq., who has for a long time been one of clerks in that department. Gen. Ruggles has the dignity, and we believe the honesty, to make him a popular officer in that place.

Mr. Draper has appointed as his assistant in the School Superintendency S. H. Carpenter, Esq., editor of the Western (Madison) Farmer. He is a gentleman of education and a fine mind. Really, editors seem to be appreciated by the incoming administration.—Green Bay Advocate.

NEW YEAR IN CANADA.—On New Year eve, our Canadian neighbors have a custom of betaking themselves to sleighs, and going from door to door singing a song of charity, made for the occasion, and receiving such articles of food as are tendered them. They persevere until their sleighs are full, and on New Year morning they distribute it to the needy. Another beautiful custom of theirs is the assembling of the different members of the family on the morning of New Year day to receive the paternal blessings. Often this occurs before daybreak. The children when assembled kneel, when the aged sire kisses each, and then pronounces his benediction, after which they partake of breakfast together, and then go forth to celebrate the day.

THE MESSAGE.—The message of Gov. Randall receives, in the main, the approbation of all parties. We hear it well spoken of by every one, and partizans who do not subscribe to some of its political doctrines, acknowledge its ability, and commend the general tone and spirit of its recommendation.

It was read by the Governor in person.—Gov. Randall is the first Governor, since Mr. Dewey, who has done this. He is an excellent reader, and his clear, impressive, finely modulated pronunciation, was a gratifying change for the ordinary hurried and humdrum reading of the messages of his predecessors by clerks. The practice of delivering the message in person, will, we hope be continued.—Madison Journal

THE ALGANTHUS TREE.—A writer in the N. Y. Tribune come to the rescue of this beautiful tree from the bad name that some have given it, and very conclusively, in our judgment, shows that whatever objection may be urged against it as a purely ornamental tree, it has characteristics that give it real value. Its free and rapid growth is one of those characteristics. As is generally known the alianthus is a native of India, and was introduced here only about twelve years ago. Some of its qualities are thus described by the writer in the Tribune:—"It is not a soft, worthless wood; on the contrary, when seasoned, it is firm, hard, strong and durable. It will make fence-posts nearly as valuable as locust timber, and when seasoned, it will burn freely and give a strong heat. It is good fuel."

If these statements are true, as we have reason to believe, the recommendation of the Tribune, that these trees should be generally planted on our Western Prairies, is well worthy of consideration.

COMPRESSIBILITY.—The remarkable instances of human compressibility which we meet with every day in the cars and stages and crowded rooms, often remind us of the following amusing anecdote of Lablache and Tom Thumb:

It happened that the great basso and Tom Thumb were in too same hotel at Paris, when a paysan, who had heard of the great little man, came up from Epinal to Paris on purpose to get a sight of this multum in parvo. The exhibition was closed, and Tom was to quit Paris the next day. The countryman must and would see him. 'Where did he lodge?' 'Hotel de Paris.' Pays 'Where did he lodge?' 'Hotel de Paris.' Pays he, and hurried to the hotel. M. Ponce found himself in the presence of P. T. Barnum, esq. Poor simpleton! The fame of Mr. Barnum had not yet extended to Epinal. He told his story and urged his suit with such portinacity that Barnum at length pretended to yield. 'Mr. Thumb is not here at present. You will find him in the room just overhead.' The countryman mounted the stairs, and rung at Lablache's door. 'Pardon,' said he, entering, 'I was told that Mr. Thumb lived here.' Lablache, who, it is well known, rejoiced in the most ample proportions, took the joke at once. 'Come in—I am Tom Thumb.'—'What, what!' said the petrified provincial, 'you Mr. Thumb? I thought he was no bigger than my thumb!' 'Yes, Sir,' replied the universal basso, 'when in public I compress myself, and am very small indeed; but when at home I put myself at my ease!' The countryman returned to Epinal, oppressed, probably, with an awful sense of the knowledge and power of the people who had invented the electric telegraph, and who could compress a giant into a pigmy.

The only difference in the parallel is, that in these latter days the expansion takes place in public, while at home (after company is gone) the expanders "put themselves at their ease."—Tribune.

From the New York Times.

ASPINWALL, Jan. 4, 1858.

The most important news I have to communicate by this mail is the capture by Capt. Sands, of the United States steam frigate Susquehanna, of the balance of the filibuster force under Col. Anderson, on their arrival on the 30th ult., at this port, in the United States war steamer Fulton, Capt. Almy. This was the party which ascended the Colorado into the San Juan river, and took possession of Fort Castillo. Capt. Sands, in the capture of this force, went to a still further extreme than did Com. Paulding in landing on Punta Arenas. He ascended the river San Juan, into the interior of a foreign country.

I will give you the facts as I have them from a high official source. Nicaragua and Costa Rica, in view of their common danger, it is presumed, came to an understanding on their differences, and sent four hundred men to San Carlos at the entrance to the lake, and one hundred to Castillo. Anderson finding himself closely pressed and likely to be more so, his stores being short, prepared the steamer Ogden, embarked his men on her, and then wrote to Captain Sands, asking his views in regard to his surrender. Capt. Sands replied that he was ready to receive him and his men, if they came and delivered up their arms. Subsequently Anderson sunked his cannon, burned all the buildings about Castillo, destroyed the machinery of a steamer at the rapids, understood to be the Virgin, and having killed all the cattle plundered all the merchandize within their reach, and started down the river. Capt. Sands came upon them under these circumstances, nine miles up the river, in the steamer Charles Morgan, full of armed men, and captured them, without any resistence of course. The Ogden was placed in charge of Mr. Cottrell, U. S. Consul at Greytown, who has also charge of the Charles Morgan, until the rightful owner in them is shown.

Capt. Sands thinks there is a little irregularity in the extreme measure he took, but as he was sent out to break up the filibusters, he thought this the shortest, and the one likely to save trouble and suffering on all sides. He, like his Commodore, will doubtless be sustained by the honest public sentiment of the country, and they do not look for the approval of any other. Besides, it will be sustained by the President, if he is sincere in the very proper language he used in his message to Congress, and we have no right to charge that he was not, after the prompt course he took in the removal of the New Orleans judge, and his suspension of Capt. Chard from his command.

The filibusters have been transferred from the Fulton to the Wabash, and the latter vessel sails with them to-day for the United States, calling in at Boca del Torro and Greytown. Some twelve or fourteen of them are sick from fever.

Parton's Life of Aaron Burr.

The N. Y. Tribune, in a brief but glowing Review of the recently published Lives of Jefferson and Burr, (neither of which, have fallen under our eye) while dwelling upon the latter work, says:

His literary executor, Matthew L. Davis, did him gross wrong in two important aspects—in representing him, first, as an unmeasured, unscrupulous debauchee, and, secondly, as willing to wreck the reputations of those who had been the victims of his wiles. Mr. Parton has conclusively vindicated his fame (especially from the latter (and worse) of these aspersions.

If the Author of this Life of Col. Burr has not been more fortunate in other respects than in the particulars cited by the Tribune, his work is among the most Apocryphal of Modern Histories. We are unable to conjecture, how, or by what kind of testimony, or by what process of reasoning, Mr. Parton "has conclusively vindicated" Col. Burr's "fame" from his "willingness to wreck the reputations of those who had been victims of his wiles."

For the "vindication," not less of the "fame" of Col. Burr's "Literary Executor," than of the truth of history, we feel it a duty, to state facts, within our own knowledge, which, but for a provocation that will be deemed an "acquittance," we should never have publicly revealed.

Col. Burr not only preserved, but with scrupulous care, filed the Letters he received. His Correspondence, especially with the female sex, was extensive. Much of this was evidently with the educated and refined—much of it showing his association with the gifted and pure of mind—much more with those whom his "wiles" had undermined and poisoned. These were, however, found in common with Letters from an exceptionable class, and of an offensive character. All were carefully endorsed, with the places, dates and names of the writers. Where Letters were signed with Initials, or were Anynomous, the full name appeared in Col. Burr's hand-writing. With many of these Letters, were copies of Col. B.'s replies. We remember a most interesting series between Col. Burr and the West Indian Lady of high culture, and resisted, she false and fatal touchings of the tempter, only in the end to exemplify the experience of, those who "first endure and then embrace" error.

The night before Col. Burr met Gen. Hamilton he wrote a Letter to his Daughter Theodosia (Mrs. Alston) in which he bequeathed his Correspondence, contained, as he says, "in six blue boxes," to her, with the request that those which would "injure" the writers, should be burned. In his Will, referring to these blue boxes again as containing his "Confidential Female Correspondence," he says to his Daughter, "You will find in them something to amuse, much to instruct, and more to forgive."

But as Gen. Hamilton, instead of Col. Burr, fell, these "blue boxes" remained in the possession of Col. Burr, and came, after his death, into the hands of his "Literary Executor."

During our long and close intimacy with the late Matthew L. Davis, and particularly while he was engaged in writing his life of Burr, we enjoyed, confidentially, the privilege, at his House in Cherry street, of perusing the materials out of which that History was wrought. The "Confidential Female Correspondence" was before us, with all its strange and startling revelations. We thought, and felt then, as we think and feel now, that only a devil, incarnate—some fiend in human shape let loose upon Earth to scourge our race—should have deliberately preserved such evidence of his own perfidy—for many of these Letters were written in bitter anguish and contained soothing imprecations—and of the frailties of others.

Instead, therefore, of doing "gross wrong" to Col. Burr, in this respect Mr. Davis, by suppressing that Correspondence, relieved the character of Burr from deep and general execration. Like Thomas Moore, who suppressed the personal Memoirs of Lord Byron, Mr. Davis, governed by a kindred sense of what was due to society, is entitled to commendation rather than reproach. Nor was the sacrifice an inexpensive one. Mr. Davis was tempted, by large pecuniary offers, to give this correspondence to the Public. The late M. M. Noah, we remember as among those who offered Mr. Davis a handsome sum for the Letters. But he always, and with great emphasis, declared that they should never appear, either to blast Col. Burr, or to wound the feelings of persons whom they compromised.

Some of these Letters were returned by Mr. Davis, in carefully sealed Packages, to persons remotely connected with the Writers. A person in Virginia, after Col. Burr's death, wrote to his "Literary Executor" asking that if Letters concerning his Family, should be found among his Papers, the might be delivered to a distinguished Virginian then in New York, which request was complied with. Mr. Davis himself delivered a Package of Letters to the Lady by whom they were written; and he requested the writer of this article to make a similar restitution of another Package. But that too delicate commission was declined.

Mr. Parton has, we understand, fallen into another unaccountable blunder in his life of Burr. Speaking of distinguished public men who were, like Col. Burr, careless in money matters, and therefore frequently embarrassed with debts, he represents the late Rufus King as belonging to that class; while all know, or might readily have learned, that Mr. King, though not possessing large wealth, was ever independent, always even merchantally strict and prompt in pecuniary transactions, and never in debt.—Albany Evening Journal.

NOT BAD ADVICE:—Sir Wm. Don lately had a benefit in Bristol, at which he thus referred to his arrest for debt and pecuniary involvements generally:

"Before I retire I hope that you will allow me to say a few words to the young men present.—Depend upon it, there is no such demon as debt. Since I was thirteen I have been constantly in debt. I hope now to get rid of the burden, and I reserve you I will take very good care never to get into debt again. Should there be any here young gentlemen present, and I dare say there are many of them, I would say to them, look at me and this long monumental warning. (Roars of laughter.) If you wish to keep a horse and cannot afford it—if you wish to go to Bath and ride fast, take a second class ticket by the Railway. (Renewed laughter.) I speak from experience, and I tell you if you can take the ready money in your hand, whether it be to buy a leg of mutton or a pair of kid gloves, you will get all the advantage, and all the happiness, and independence, too. (Cheers and laughter.) Our old friend in "David Copperfield" Mr. Micawber, is quite right when he says, 'Income £20; expenditure, £20 1s—total, misery. Income, £20; expenditure £19 19s, 11 3-4d—total, happiness.

☞ Somebody says that a wife should be like roasted lamb, tender and nicely dressed. Somebody else wickedly adds "and without sauce."

Bachelors.

Be careful, young man, in the prime of your life,
Not to fool your existence away;
The best thing for you is to hunt you a wife,
And marry her right away.
Of earthly existence alone,
And when they are dead, and all has been said,

THOMAS JEFFERSON'S FATHER'S STRENGTH.—Peter Jefferson is described by Mr. Randall as "a man of gigantic stature—plain, and averse to display—he was grave, taciturn, slow to make, and not over prompt to accept, advances. He was one of those calmly and almost sternly self-relying men, who lean on none, who desire help from none. And he certainly had both muscle and mind which could be trusted. He could simultaneously "head up" (raise from their sides to an upright position) two hogsheads of tobacco, weighing nearly a thousand pounds a piece! He once directed three able-bodied slaves to pull down a ruinous shed by means of a rope. After they had again and again made the effort, he bade them stand aside, seized the rope, and dragged down the structure in an instant. Traditions have come down of his continuing his lines as a surveyor through savage wilderneeses after his assistants had given out from famine and fatigue, subsisting on the raw flesh of game, and even of his eating mules, when other food failed."

WHO THAT IS TROUBLED.—With any of those disagreeable complaints, such as Jaundice, Dyspepsia, or Liver diseases of any kind, but would like to know of a remedy for these unseemly visitations? We feel that we are doing our invalid readers an invaluable service if we can induce them to get a bottle of Dr. Sanford's Invigorator, and take it, for we know from personal experience that it is one of the greatest remedies for general debility, and consequent inactive bodily powers, ever before used. Its action is so perfect and complete as to give relief the first time taken, and if it does to others as it has to us, half a bottle will be all that is needed. We know of nothing we can recommend with such confidence, as a family medicine, as the Invigorator. (See Advertisement.)

A LOVE STORY.

A few weeks since I was on a visit to a friend in a neighboring village. The weather was delightful for the season; it had many of the beauties of summer, without its heat or mosquitoes, and though the scenery appeared cold and naked, yet the cluster of evergreens, that here and there ornamented the hillocks, relieved the eye and impressed the mind with thoughts of perpetual youth, that neither the change of season nor the lapse of time could rob of its freshness and beauty. When the atmosphere is clear, and the wind westerly, the mind is more apt to pick out beauties and dwell upon them, than when the weather is murky and wind easterly. As the weather was all that could be desired, my friend and I were taking a pleasant view of surrounding objects as we rode together, at an easy pace, in a chaise. To us, the "rugged rock, the mountain's barren brow" had perhaps more charms, than if we had been viewing those oriental scenes, "where the eye may look bright upon groves of the palm and the cocoa."

"Did you notice that man we just passed?" inquired my friend, interrupting me in a description I was trying to give him of those lazy Malays who inhabit the Islands of the Indian Archipelago. I had been telling him those fellows were generally so lazy that they considered it too much trouble to keep the run of time. During the day they roll themselves up under the shades of trees and loll away their time, until their stomachs admonish them that something is wanted inside. The fellows then climb a cocoa-nut tree, and take down a nut or two and devour the contents, or, if bananas or plantains are in season, they take some of these; then smoke half an hour or so, and when stupified, sink to sleep. At night they sometimes fish, more for amusement than necessity, and thus loafaway their lives like "the beasts that perish." My object was to show how much better we were situated, and blessed, than the Malays, by being compelled to exert all our faculties to keep soul and body together.

"That man," said my friend, "is between forty and fifty, but is of such a jovial turn, that he can make himself perfectly at home among schoolboys. Those who do not know him well, would be apt to think him half crazy. You observed that he was drawing after him a child in a basket-wagon, while he led another. These children are not his, he is a bachelor.

When he was a boy, his mother took charge of an orphan girl and brought her up as tenderly as if she had been her own child; and he, too, loved her with more than a brother's love. When he attained manhood, he told the orphan his love and wished her to become his wife. She acknowledged her gratitude to his family, but at the same time, informed him that she loved another. He loved her too dearly, too disinterestedly, to think of his own disappointment, and expressed himself willing to do all in his power to make her happy with the man of her choice.

She married and removed to another part of the country. Her discarded lover was just as happy and jovial as if nothing had happened to wound his feelings. When joked about it, he used to put on a half serious, half comic expression of countenance and reply that he could never feel unhappy, while he knew that his sister, for such he termed her, was happy.

Years passed away; his sister had five children, and her husband, after a lingering illness, died, leaving her and her little ones destitute.

She wrote to her early friends—they were her friends still—and they provided her with the means of joining them. Her old lover received her with open arms,—she was still dear to him as a sister, though faded and worn with care and sickness.

He provided for her and her little ones, was kind to them as a father, and seemed to love them for their mother's sake. That mother soon sickened and died. He watched by her bedside; and soothed her last moments by assuring her that her children should not want while he had any thing to give.

The two youngest he took to his mother's house, and waits upon them himself: the youngest is not more than 15 months old. These were their mother's darlings and they have become equally dear to him. Friends took charge of the other three, but he feels much interested in them also.

His own mother is quite an aged lady, and is so peculiar in her temper that no domestic will remain long in the house; her son, therefore, in addition to the children, has to take care of his mother. He washes, mends, cooks and performs all the other domestic duties of the house, and also works at his trade.

He loves his mother; he cannot see anything wrong in her; and to those who make remarks upon his mode of living, he has always a jocular answer.

"This man," continued my friend, "is surely a lover in the most exalted sense of the term. He forgets self in his devotion to others.

Those who have known him from childhood, say that his whole life has been exemplary. By industry and frugality he has accumulated enough to keep him comfortable in old age, and though he may sometimes appear odd, yet he was never known to wilfully wound even the feelings of those with whom he may have differed upon any question. He is susceptible of deep and earnest emotion, but with consummate self control, covers them up beneath a joke when detected in his musings. His sorrows, if he have any, are kept out of sight. No friend has yet been permitted to share the secrets of his thoughts; his actions alone are known."

An eminent writer remarks that "man never is man, in the full significance of the term, until he has loved; and with a love that can triumph over time and all its mutations, over pain, sickness, sorrow and the grave, and bloom in immortal beauty, when all else has become withered and dry." The hero of this simple tale "is a man in the full significance of the term."

CALEB WALL'S ADV'TS

CITY AUCTION ROOM.

City Auction Room.

I GAVE NOTICE through our papers last week, that I had a large stock of Dry Goods from N. York, from Sixth Avenue, No. 320, corner of Twenty-first st. The goods are all from New York, and no other place; and as regards the goods, there are not many fancy ones; so much the better. They are plain, substantial goods, which we all want every day in our families. The goods are now all opened in the store on the west side of the river, formerly occupied by J. L. Pierce, where they will remain for thirty or sixty days. It is no intention of mine whatever to open a retail store, although I have as much right to do as anybody, as any one else has to do as he pleases. I have heard that several of our merchants complain that I am injuring the trade by selling goods so low. I would kindly say to those merchants that the goods are all paid for, and if they will come and purchase them at present at a reduced price, I will give them credit, provided they can give me good paper, endorsed six and twelve months; or I will sell the entire stock only, which amounts to twenty thousand dollars, on the following terms: One-fourth cash in three months—balance in one, two or three years, with seven per cent. interest, secured by a mortgage on property in our city. But I would say to those who intend to call on me, that I shall not sell a single piece less than ever sold in this city before. Mr. Ayres has the entire charge of the said goods. I attend to all auction business at the old corner, and will give it that strict attention I always have done. Any one can buy pieces of goods as low as I am ready at all times to purchase the same. Call on me.
dec8 CALEB WALL, City Auctioneer.

City Auction Room.

I WANT to purchase twenty thousand to thirty thousand dollars worth of Dry Goods, in the following way: One quarter cash, balance in good city property or I will pay all cash if I can agree on price; or I will exchange for good Mortgages, Bank and Railroad Stocks; or School Lands. Any one who is tired of trade, and wishes to give up and retire to private life, call on me and I will buy you out. My object is to do good to all parties concerned. I respectfully invite my friends and customers, and the public in general, to call and examine my stock and prices, which will be lower than any other House west of New York. Watchmakers, Dealers and Pedlars will do well to call and examine my stock before purchasing elsewhere.
Watches and Jewelry repaired and made to order.
